1. [REDACTED] a conversation was held regarding the Directorate of National Intelligence (DINA) and its activities. [REDACTED]

President PINCHET has established DINA as the sole responsible agency for internal subversive matters. As such, service intelligence agencies are obliged to inform DINA immediately when subversive activities have been uncovered within their services, and turn over to DINA any detainees held. For DINA's part, however, when they have encountered subversive information about the individual services, they are only required to inform the services that an investigation is underway without turning over the information.
